“Through all the fits and starts, challenges and triumphs, we never doubted that good things would happen because there were, in every situation, enough good people to push or pull or argue us through to the next step.”
— Louis Adams, Salish

Thank You To the Good People who always got us to the next step:

Here are the “Good People” who made tribal involvement in the Lewis & Clark Bicentennial possible and successful. We have undoubtedly left someone out and misspelled some names. Please know that your contribution was and is deeply valued.

If your name is not on this list, but should be, starting in March 2010, you can go to www.lc-triballegacy.org and add yourself, or someone you know, to the ongoing list of Good People.
