spoke with members of Congress about the importance of preserving our country's national trails system.

The objectives of Hike the Hill this year were to lobby for the annual appropriation for our federal partners who administer and manage these trails as well as to encourage Congress to re-authorize and fully fund the Land and Water Conservation Fund (LWCF). The LWCF is vital to enable our states, federal agencies, and local governments to fund important land acquisitions for conservation and recreation access.

The highest priority for the Lewis and Clark National Historic Trail was funding to acquire key parcels for public access and trail preservation within the Missouri River Breaks National Monument; a forested area near the Blackfoot River along Lewis' return route; and an elk winter range which extends into the Lewis and Clark National Historic Trail corridor.

Message from President Gorski

I want to thank all of our members who called and wrote letters to the editor in response to the WPO article authored by William Benemann. The considerable number of people who took the time to call either me or the office I take as a good sign that we still have many loyal members who care deeply about the Lewis and Clark story, our organization, and our beloved WPO. As is true of any debate, it will take some time to sort itself out. As long as the discussion is thoughtful and respectful, I think debate is healthy and is what makes organizations grow.

In response to some of the concerns expressed, I have formed a WPO Submission Guidelines Review Committee. It was good timing anyway, since our contract with Washington State Press is up for renewal and the Submission Guidelines are a few years old. The goal of constituting this committee is not to find fault with anyone or the process, but to review the guidelines to ensure they accurately mirror our current mission.

The committee is also charged with beginning the discussion about whether and how to broaden the focus of WPO to include more articles on western history in order to increase the potential for article submissions. I would also like to initiate a conversation about how we might add a digital version to our production so that we can reach younger readers who are accustomed to receiving journals and news online or via social media. As always we will do our best to keep our members informed of opportunities for them to become more actively involved in the workings of our organization.

Upcoming National and Regional Meetings

"Across the Wide Missouri" to be the theme of 47th Annual LCTHF Convention in Kansas City, MO, August 1 to 5, 2015, sponsored by the Missouri-Kansas Riverbend Chapter.

The theme will be played out through a program of varied and interesting talks; guest speakers including Bud Clark and Gerard Baker; tours to Fort Osage, Lewis and Clark Point, and St Joseph, MO; and a BBQ dinner at Kaw Point - to name only a few of the highlights. Attendees may still register for the 47th Annual Convention online at www.LewisandClarkKC.org or in print in the February 2015 edition of WPO. has approved a new partnership with National History Day (NHD; www.nhd.org) and is donating a cash prize for the NHD essay contest. Half a million students throughout the United States and its territories participate in the NHD contests. The 2015 theme is "Leadership and Legacy in History." Students in the Junior Division (6th to 8th grade) and Senior Division (9th to 12th grade) may submit entries as individuals or groups in one of four categories: documentary, exhibit, performance, or website.

The LCTHF has officially endorsed NHD and is listed on the NHD website's homepage as one of NHD's 11 supporters and the only topic-specific organization. The LCTHF will offer one of the topic-specific "special prizes." These special prizes will be awarded by a panel of judges during the Kenneth E. Behring National Contest held in June in College Park, MD. The LCTHF's $1000 cash prize will go to the entry in both the Junior and Senior Divisions that best utilizes primary sources including maps, journals, letters, and oral histories to "explore" such Corps of Discovery-related topics as cartography, diplomacy, trail sites, natural history, expedition members, and tribal history.

Regional competitions began in February for Washington State. The state competition is in May. If Washington State chapter members would

"Supplied for Survival" to be the theme of the 2016 LCTHF 48th Annual Meeting venues at the Harpers Ferry National Historical Park in West Virginia from July 24 to 27, 2016.

A facsimile sampling of the supplies gathered by Lewis at Harpers Ferry in 1803

We have a letter dated March 14, 1803, in which Secretary of War Henry Dearborn wrote to Armory Superintendent Joseph Perkins, "Sir: You will be pleased to make such arms and Iron work, as requested by the bearer Captain Meriwether Lewis and to have them completed with the least possible delay." Then Meriwether Lewis wrote to President Thomas Jefferson in a letter dated July 8, 1803, "Yesterday I shot my guns and examined the several articles which have been manufactured for me at this place, and they appear to be well executed."

Come to the 48th LCTHF Annual Meeting and learn the importance of the arsenal and armory in the late 1700's/early 1800's and why Lewis spent valuable time in this location. The venue of the meeting will be in the historic Upper and Lower Towns of the Harpers Ferry National Historical Park (NHP). The host hotel, located in the immediate vicinity of the NHP, will be the Harpers Ferry Quality Hotel and Conference Center (304-535-6302). By Jerry Wilson

Library Update

The Western Hall of Fame bronze statue of York will be working its way home this summer. Jerry and Janice Wilson have agreed to pick it up from the Filson Society in Louisville, KY, en-route to the Annual Convention in Kansas City. From there we will find someone driving home to transport it to Great Falls, MT. Jim Holmberg has been helpful in the process of returning the statue to its home at the LCTHF.

Duplicate library books will finally be sent to Bev Hinds for the Lewis and Clark Library at the Onowa State Park's Visitor Center. Doug and Lynn Davis will be transporting the books to Iowa after the March LCTHF Board meeting in Great Falls. The duplicate books were reviewed by the Library Committee in 2013 and approved for de-accessioning.

Shelly Kath and our three library volunteers have the Library Catalog about ready to import to the LCTHF website! They will, along with Sue Buchel, begin a final review before working with Kris Townsend to upload. This catalog contains our book and serial collections. It has taken four years of mostly

The Carolina Chapter received a Trail Stewardship Grant to install signs at Fort Southwest Point (FSWP) which describe FSWP's connection to the Lewis and Clark Expedition and give a brief history of FSWP and a description of each soldier recruited from FSWP. The signs were dedicated by Trent Strickland, President of the Carolina Chapter, during the LCTHF Regional Meeting in Kingston, TN, in October 2014. The soldiers from FSWP, Corporal Richard Warfington and Privates Hugh Hall, Thomas P. Howard, and John Potts, were further honored as army veterans by Troy Beets, Mayor of Kingston, TN; Glen Collins, an army veteran and Hugh Hall descendent; Reverend Larry Bolden; and the local VFW. This project and the Eastern Legacy Signs project (see below) clearly mark FSWP as a significant site along the Eastern Legacy of the Lewis and Clark Expedition. By Chuck Crase

Participants at the Library and Archives Training in Great Falls, MT

The LCTHF staff, our library volunteers, several Library Committee members, some LCTHF Board members, a Crimson Bluffs Board member, and an archivist from the Cascade County Historical Museum attended a one-day workshop at the LCTHF headquarters on March 22, 2015, on "The Basics of Archives," facilitated by Sue Buchel.

The Library Committee has forwarded to President Gorski a Draft Records Retention Policy. Beverly Lewis wrote the document which members of the Library Committee reviewed and edited. All non-profit organizations are encouraged to have this policy on file which is another step toward professionalizing our operation. It is recommended that the document be reviewed by the Finance Committee, Executive Committee, and Executive Director. The Library Committee will consolidate all their comments into a final draft. By Sue Buchel

Oregon Chapter Creates Speakers' Bureau to share members' expertise with the public. Many groups are hungry to learn about Lewis and Clark and appreciate access to our experts and the wealth of information they possess about Lewis and Clark and related topics. We've posted a page on the Oregon Chapter's website (<http://or-lcthf.org/Speakers/>) with the name, background, expertise and topics, specialty and props, preferred audience, geographic range, availability, and contact information for an initial group of Oregon Chapter speakers. We've asked our members to refer groups and schools seeking speakers to the website. Interested groups would then contact the speakers directly, so the Oregon Chapter need only maintain the web page. While it's too new to know how much activity it will spur, we are confident that the Speakers' Bureau will advance our mission as "Keepers of the Story." By Ted Kay

The Portage Route Chapter (PRC) of the LCTHF has named Dr. Jay H. Buckley and Margaret Adams (posthumously) as the recipients of the 2015 Bill Sherman Fellow Award which is given annually to those recognized by their peers as people who reflect the values of William P. Sherman.

Bill Sherman was a Lewis and Clark Trail visionary and one of the largest private donors who helped establish the Lewis and Clark National Historic Trail Interpretive Center in Great Falls, MT, through an anonymous donation of over $200,000 to complete the funding drive. Sherman considered himself to be most effective when working "behind the scenes" as he did to build up the Russell Art Auction, the Museum of the Rockies in Bozeman, MT, and the Holter Art Museum in Helena, MT. Bill always said, "You can get a lot done if you don't care who gets the credit." His philosophy and accomplishments motivated the PRC's establishment of the annual William P. Sherman Fellow Award in 2008.

Dr. Buckley is Associate Professor of History at Brigham Young University (BYU) and also Director of BYU's interdisciplinary Native American Studies minor. He has authored a number of books about the early history of the West including William Clark: Indian Diplomat (2008) which won the Missouri History Book Award and the Eagleton-Waters Book Award, By His Own Hand?: The Mysterious Death of Meriwether Lewis (2006), and Zebulon Pike, Thomas Jefferson, and the Opening of the American West (2012). A recipient of the LCTHF's Meritorious Achievement Award, Buckley's service to the LCTHF began in 2004 when he was designated as the PRC's Scholar-in-Residence. Elected to the LCTHF Board in 2007, he became President of the LCTHF in

The Friends and Partners Committee is requesting your help in locating centers or businesses that have a connection to the Lewis and Clark National Historic Trail but may not have Lewis and Clark as the central theme. Such organizations include museums along the Trail, visitor centers such as at Fort Union, history centers and clubs, and county and state historical societies. We would like to be in touch with such organizations so that we may share ideas, collaborate on Lewis and Clark-themed interpretive media, and work together to get people out on the Trail. If such organizations exist in your area, please send their contact information to Dick Fichtler, Friends and Partners Committee Chair, at dfichtler094@gmail.com or call (406)239-3888.

Lewis and Clark Book Released

Tales From the Rivers*, written and published by Ken Altergott in 2014, is an account of his journey from 2003 to 2006 in the footsteps of Lewis and Clark. Ken did double duty as a captain of the keelboat and a 21st century Patrick Gass while traveling 8000 miles up and down rivers and across mountains and prairies with Bud Clark, a direct descendant of William Clark, and the reenactors of the Discovery Expedition of St Charles (DESC).

Along the way, they camped at the same sites and on the same days as 2011. During his tenure, he worked to strengthen the LCTHF and enhance outreach to the membership.

Margaret Adams was a pioneer in conservation, a sensitive educator, and school principal who lived by the values exemplified by William P. Sherman. She was one of the original founders of the Lewis and Clark Fund, Inc., and raised $1 million toward Great Falls' Lewis and Clark Interpretive Center. She was a board member of both the Lewis and Clark Interpretive Association and the Portage Route Chapter. She served the Lewis and Clark community and "captained" efforts to bring the Lewis and Clark story to students, families, and visitors.

The Sherman Fellow Award was presented to Dr. Buckley and the Great Falls School District on behalf of Margaret Adams at the PRC's annual Sherman Breakfast at the Meadowlark Country Club on Saturday, March 21, 2015. Travelers Rest Chapter Welcomes New President Ritchie Doyle. Ritchie, a member of the Travelers Rest Chapter since 1999 and long-time Board member, has played the part of Capt William Clark for almost 20 years. He is an integral part of the Travelers Rest Brigade and an expert on Clark's maps. Ritchie as Capt Clark met Gen Hal Stearns (ret) as Capt Lewis in the Montana State Senate chambers in January of 2006. The Travelers Rest Brigade was the Honor Guard for the unveiling of the $4,000,000 Lewis and Clark bronze that hangs in the Capitol's Senate chambers. Ritchie also participated in the burial of Lawrence Rence who was called either "Lolo" or "Lou Lou" by the Indians. Lolo was killed by a grizzly bear around 1860 on the Lewis and Clark Trail. The grave of Lolo was discovered in 2004 under Lewis and Clark, according to their journal entries, and met the more than half a million people who visited the DESC at their campsites across the country. Ken tells of the many similarities and differences between the DESC's expedition and the original Lewis and Clark Expedition and relates some very interesting anecdotes, many of which probably have never been told before.

LCTHF Friends Lost in 2014: The LCTHF is greatly saddened to report the passing of two great friends and supporters.

Peter Stuyvesant Hockaday, 77, Fellow of the American Institute of Architects, died on May 9, 2014, in San Francisco. A graduate of Yale University (1958) and the Yale Architecture School (1961), Peter joined McCue Boone Tomsick (MBT) Architects in San Francisco in the 1960s, became a principal in 1979, and remained with the firm for four decades. He served on the Board of the Foundation for San Francisco's Architectural Heritage and was a great supporter of the LCTHF. He leaves Joan, his wife of 47 years; a son and daughter; and two grandchildren. Joan's article "Beautiful Blue Camas" illustrated by Peter, an accomplished watercolorist, appeared in WPO in November 2003. In the obituary published in the San Francisco Chronicle, the Hockaday family requested that people who wished to honor Peter's memory send donations to "the Foundation for San Francisco's Architectural Heritage or the Lewis & Clark Trail Heritage Foundation in Montana."

Darlene Stone Fassler, 78, of Great Falls, MT, died on December 25, 2014. A direct descendant of Patrick Gass, Darlene loved all things Lewis and Clark and was a long-time supporter of the LCTHF. She was born on February 25, 1936, in Ruth, Nevada. After graduation from White Pine County High School (1954), Darlene became a telephone switchboard operator. She and her husband John Fassler were married in 1956 and raised five boys. Darlene was active in community theatre, pottery clubs, Sons and Daughters of Montana Pioneers, and Daughters of the American Revolution, and volunteered at the Lewis and Clark Interpretive Center. An avid genealogist, Darlene traced her roots back to the Mayflower era and took great pride in the fact that her great-great-great grandfather was Sgt Patrick Gass. She leaves John, her husband of 58 years; her children John H., Brian, Kevin, and Mike; siblings Sharyn and Doug; and many grandchildren and great grandchildren.
